Bank Lending Practices Survey

Coefs is currently developing a bank lending practices survey to be completed by senior decision makers in banks, that is designed to gauge bank reactions and intentions in the provision of credit.

Based on similar international surveys, adapted for the South African market, the survey will identify various forms of lending and gauge the impact on credit policy and new lending, based on current and future economic conditions, legislative and other changes.

The survey will provide an ongoing quantitative basis for assessing bank behaviour.
